

HE BOOMS ALLISON

CLARKSON IS ON WITH A STOCK ARGUMENT FOR THE IOWA MAN.

Says He is Found on Everything and Just the Man to Run in the White House—Declares That There are Other Questions Than the Tariff Which the Parties Must Solve—Takes Care of Himself—Concedes Major McKinley's Popularity But Declares That the Fight is Not Yet Over.

Chicago, March 10.—General James C. Clarkson of Iowa is in the city on his way to Des Moines to attend the Iowa Republican state convention Wednesday. He is stopping at the Auditorium, where he was seen last night by a reporter for the Inter Ocean. He says the convention will be a love-feast, at which the Allison forces will receive new strength, as Iowa is a unit in her support of her favorite son. He is confident that Allison's chances of success for the presidential nomination increases every day, and he discounts the claims of the managers of rival "booms."

"No one has won the fight yet," said General Clarkson, "nor has any one ever gained a leading plurality in the 518 delegates so far elected out of the 518 who will be in the convention. The Associated Press, which seems to have gone unanimously for McKinley, has sought to make it appear that the delegates settled for the Ohio candidate, and many newspapers enlisting under the aggressive plumes of Major McKinley have moved to make it unanimous; but it is delegates, and not the Associated Press, or a minority of newspapers that will make the nomination. A strong majority of the delegates so far chosen are in the south. Of these southern delegates McKinley has not so far received a majority of the delegates in any state except Arkansas, a state which cannot possibly give the Republican ticket a single electoral vote, and which will probably even nominate an electoral ticket. In Louisiana, where the Associated Press gives McKinley practically all of the sixteen delegates so far elected, McKinley has actually fewer votes than Reed or Allison. The same is true in Georgia. In Mississippi he will not have more than half the delegates in the convention at St. Louis. In Florida two delegations have been elected, one declaring to be for McKinley, but not instructed, and the other instructed for Governor Morton."

TEXAS IS DIVIDED.

"In Texas, of the eighteen delegates so far elected, he has but six. Reed and Allison having the rest in about equal numbers. In the north, the Ohio delegates are of course for McKinley, in Pennsylvania for Quay, in New York for Morton, and in Illinois ten for Cullom and ten for McKinley. The McKinley managers, who are wise men as well as good fellows, Hanna and Kohlsaat smartest of all, called conventions on all their campaign grounds first—or what they would have been called if the contest so far had been in perfect good nature, and there is no reason why it should not go on so to the end. The zeal of the McKinley followers has induced workingmen in a little state in some places, as in Iowa, where they have been trying to get county conventions to give second choice for the Ohio man, without any results."

The Allison people never thought of invading Ohio, although the indications in that state in the district convention elections in the past week have shown that they would have been much justified in doing that if the Ohio people were in invading Iowa. It is said that the Allison camp is pretty modest and not aggressive enough. The McKinley forces are content with the share of delegates so far elected for Allison outside of Iowa. We have not had the vainglorious disposition to say that any state should not have a share of delegates of its own. In Illinois, for instance, we have recognized that Senator Cullom is worthy to be presented, and perfectly eligible for the presidency, and if he should be chosen as President, McKinley would ever have reason to be disappointed in the sort of president he would make. So far as we are concerned, we have respected the comity of neighbors.

ALLISON IN NEW ENGLAND.

"Allison has much strength in New England, yet we have felt that New England was right in supporting Mr. Reed, whose ability and worthiness no one questions. The same is true as to Minnesota and Davis. We have no quarrel with the judgment of the great and necessary state of New York, for Governor Morton would make a good president, and would be a most popular candidate of any in that state. We recognize in Pennsylvania's devotion to Quay a fidelity to a leader who, always faithful to his people, demonstrated marvelous and dignified ability in standing last year in the free-trade senate, preserving protection to his state while the most of the other states were left to free-trade. General Manderson, in Nebraska, is a man of high character, and having the elements of a popular candidate. Nor can we wonder that Kentucky, after Governor Bradley's splendid fight, should have its devotion to statehood and courage, that he should in redeeming his state last year, should like to send him to the White House. The ill-considered comments on the ambitions of these states in presenting capable men have not come from the Allison camp. As to Cullom, Davis, and Manderson, all candidates in Mississippi valley, Iowa Republicans, who believe that this great valley should furnish the president, have nothing but friendship and good will. If we cannot get Allison we should get one of these Mississippi valley men should be chosen. This may not be in line with the declaration of the Arkansas convention, that McKinley is the only candi-

DIVORCE IN DANGER

HOUSE AT WASHINGTON MOVES AGAINST OKLAHOMA.

Bill is Passed Making a Year's Continuous Residence Necessary in Oklahoma Before a Divorce Can be Secured—People at Guthrie are Indignant and Declare That Dakota Lawyers are at the Bottom of It—Mr. and Mrs. Price Have a Big Time Settling Up Their Matrimonial Difficulties.

Guthrie, O. T., March 10.—A dispatch from Washington tonight says that today, on motion of Gillett (Rep. Mass.), a bill passed in the house making it one year's "continuous residence" in the territory for those desiring to obtain a divorce in the territory. The bill is aimed at Oklahoma territory.

There is great indignation over the matter. It is known that Dakota lawyers are at the bottom of the scheme to knock Oklahoma out of the divorce trade, and the lawyers here resent it. Oklahoma will send on a lobby to Washington and try to hold the bill up in the senate.

HAVING MUCH TROUBLE.

James G. Price, formerly of Perry, where he was chairman of the Republican central committee, a lawyer and real estate man, and who now resides at Cleveland has sued his wife, Mrs. Purdy Price, for divorce.

Mr. Price and Miss Seeds were married about one year ago, and on the 14th of January, Mr. Price separated and that day filed a suit for divorce alleging infidelity on the part of Mrs. Price. The next day Mr. and Mrs. Price met and spent the night trying to settle their differences, and really during the night they became as loving as two doves, but the next day they fell out again; the suit for divorce was pushed. Mr. Price employed the well-known attorney, Charles Stewart, to defend her case and Charley immediately applied for alimony against Price, and Mrs. Price and Attorney Stewart then went to Cleveland to serve the papers. Price became apprised of his old spouse coming in the case of Ed Vanderpool, who is charged with the murder of Luke G. Ballard, at Langston, last year, returned a verdict of acquittal. The jury was out but twenty minutes. The whole day was consumed in hearing arguments of counsel, Attorneys Herod, Overstreet and Thurston, for the defense, and Gardner and Foster for the prosecution. Gardner made a strong speech which seemed to make a great impression on the jury. The leading plea, however, was made by Judge Herod in the behalf of the defendant. At all times a fluent and forceful speaker, the judge exceeded the expectations of the most sanguine yesterday in pleading for the life of the defendant. His argument was logical and convincing, his delivery impressive, and his facts in line with the evidence, doubtless did much towards influencing the jury in its decision. The outcome of the case is a decided victory for Mr. Herod's firm.

CONCERT BLOWN UP.

The Oklahoma City Times-Journal has the following: "Mr. Kallbrenner, director of school district in the southwest corner of Cass township, was in the city today and reported that on Friday night while the colored school was giving a concert, an explosion of dynamite occurred under the school house, wrecked by an explosion of dynamite cartridges placed under it. By the merest chance no one was hurt."

"The colored school house in the district is very small, and the teacher, the colored teacher, got permission of the board to hold an exhibition in the white school house. The exhibition was held Friday night, there being in attendance about forty colored people and twenty white."

"The teacher had just stepped off the platform when an explosion occurred that shattered the side of the house and the platform, where the teacher had stood ten seconds before. Following the first explosion was a slight explosion on the other side and right under a half dozen children."

"Great excitement prevailed, and exclamation upon the villains who perpetrated the heinous deed were heard on all sides, but nothing could be done to run down the perpetrators that night, owing to the darkness."

"The following day it was discovered that two dynamite cartridges had been placed under the house, one on each side of the platform on which the children were seated. The explosion was so powerful that the teacher was killed and the other one was not placed far enough under the house to do much damage, the large open space under the house at that point also being destroyed by the force of the shock. Had the second cartridge done the work it was meant to do, six children would have been killed or seriously injured."

"The people of the district are very much wrought up over the outrage, and will use every endeavor to discover the perpetrators, who are liable to a penitentiary sentence of ten years."

NORTHWEST IS FOR MCKINLEY.

As in the Southwest His Name is the Signal for Cheers.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 10.—The northwest is solid for McKinley. There is no doubt about that. Wisconsin, Minnesota, both the Dakotas, and Montana are all to be relied on to be in line for the Ohio leader at the proper time. This is an unbiased view, and taken by one who has had the best opportunities for reviewing the field from conversations with leaders of the various parties, and from the moves made in local politics and conventions, and from all sources that can be relied on to give the truth.

Generally speaking, this result does not come from any idea that McKinley represents the protection idea more strongly than any other candidate that can be named, but from a liking for the man, and from the deep-rooted belief that he will make a better president than anyone who has been brought forward, favorite son or outsider.

He is better known in the northwest than any other candidate, and has been more often in this section. He is believed to be more in accord with western ideas and western development than any other, and to have a broader grasp of the needs and possibilities of the northwest.

In Wisconsin about all the delegates to county conventions that are to elect delegates to the state convention for choosing men to go to St. Louis have been made. It is generally conceded that McKinley has the convention by about three to one for all other candidates. This is a tremendous majority, but it expresses the feeling in the state, and a friendly feeling for the state, and Allison is personally known to a great many of them. However, if a poll of South Dakota was to be taken today it would be found that McKinley and not Allison, was the favorite. This is a surprising fact, but that it is a fact there is not the slightest doubt. South Dakotans themselves can hardly explain it. They all know that Allison has some effect on their desire to be back of the Ohio man. Attempts have been made by Senator Pettigrew and others to turn the state into the Davis column, if there is any such thing, but they have failed, and Pettigrew is now fighting for his own scalp, with a small chance of saving it, and the fact that he is at home in a personal house to house canvass of his own county, and is likely to lose there, is one of the most flattering signs that the other side can have, so far as the state is concerned.

But we looked into the matter, and found that she was using one of the poorest and most dangerous of bar soaps with her Pearlina. When we induced her to use Pearlina alone, without this soap, everything was lovely. Use no soap, when you do any washing or cleaning with Pearlina. It's needless, and more expensive—and it may do harm.

North Dakota has been put in the Davis rank, but wrongly. It is McKinley through and through. The people of the state would back the McKinley man if they thought he was in earnest in his candidacy, but they do not. The impression is general in the state that he is playing for something else, and will use what delegations he gets for trading purposes.
